IN THE CLAIMS

Please amend claim 21, to read as follows:

1 21. (Amended) A magnetic clip marker for use in engaging and marking a page of a book,
2 the clip marker including in combination:

3 a plurality of discrete magnetic members each exhibiting a thickness;

4 a pair of wall members of unequal length aligned and joined together at a throat to form an 5 integral monolithic structure exhibiting a normally closed orientation, with said wall members 6 comprised of a base portion adjacent terminal ends and a clip portion overlapping said base portion 7 and extending to said throat, said wall members being oriented to receive insertion of a page of a 8 book between said base portion and said clip portion until an edge of the page engages said throat, 9 said wall members bearing said magnetic members mounted on between said wall members, in 10 aligned facing opposition to permit contact between said magnetic members; and

11 a cover member disposed along an interior surface of one of said pair of wall members to 12 form a continuous layer extending from a first of said terminal ends, around said throat and to a 13 second of said terminal ends while covering and separating said magnetic members and forming a 14 continuously gradual structural transition between a difference in separation between said opposite 15 wall members and between said magnetic members attributable to said thickness.
